

Wellness Vacation

Health conditions deteriorate as a result of a combination of stressors like pollution, stress, age, bad lifestyle, unhealthy eating habits, ergonomics, anxiety, depression and a range of psychosomatic factors. Over a period of time, depending on how strong we are, stress does not remain as 'unexplainable discomfort' but translates into tangible and diagnosable disease. It would require a lot of undoing of accumulated effects of such stress and streamlining the activities of mind and body. A virtual 'rebooting' of our systems calls for switching off or scaling down our exposure to these stressors and hence a need for stay package where you are guided into a whole new healthy routine that's healthy, simple and practical to adapt.
